

Personal injury is a broad term for injuries to a person caused by the negligence of another. Personal injuries can be physical or mental impairments that cause financial harm to an individual as opposed to property damage. Personal injury cases stem from car, truck and motorcycle accidents to product or premises liability, boating, aviation and construction site accidents to name a few. If death occurs as a result of personal injuries, these cases are referred to under law as wrongful death.

Our firm represent clients injured involved in a wide array range of accidents, including, but not limited to:

- Car Accidents
- Construction Accidents
- Motorcycle Accidents
- Truck Accidents
- Wrongful Death Medical Malpractice
- Spinal Cord Injury
- Brain Injury
- Boating Injury
- Premises Liability

When a person is first injured, some of the most common questions most asked are:

1. What should I do after the accident?
2. Should I give a recorded statement to the insurance company if asked to?
3. Should I accept an offer of settlement from the negligent party's insurance company if one is offered?
4. What do I do if I can't pay my medical bills?
5. Will doctors and hospitals wait for payment?
6. What happens to my lost wages from time out of work?

TO MAXIMIZE YOUR CLAIM AND PROTECT YOUR LEGAL RIGHTS

The only answer is call us FIRST!

(203) 742-1031 in Greenwich Office,
(914) 597-7677 in White Plains Office,
(914) 677-4536 in New York Office,
(203) 885-1705 in Danbury Office and
(203) 998-0769 in Stamford Office

If you are an injured due to negligent action of another, you may have grounds for a lawsuit to recover compensation for

- Past and future medical expenses
- Lost wages
- Lost earning capacity
- Permanent disability or disfigurement
- Emotional distress
- Interference with family relationships
- Property damage
- Expenses incurred as a direct result of your injuries
- Physical Rehabilitation
- Pain and Suffering

First Things First! – CALL A PERSONAL INJURY ATTORNEY FIRST!

Remember, under the law you have a limited amount of time to bring an action for recovery of a personal injury . Many times, clients with a valid claim delay taking action due to what initially appears as a minor injury that only later develops into a long a debilitating injury after the allowable time period to bring a lawful action. Don't delay!

Retaining a personal injury lawyer will ensure that you are taking the correct first steps to prevent unnecessary losses, strengthen your case and protect your legal rights. An attorney is in the best position to determine who was at fault, evaluate property damage, assess the extent of your physical injuries and determine a course of action to hold liable parties responsible. Remember, under the law you have a limited amount of time to bring an action for recovery of a personal injury. Many times, clients with a valid claim delay taking action due to what initially appears as a minor injury that only later develops into a long a debilitating injury after the allowable time period to bring a lawful action. Don't delay!

At the firm of Dominick Rendina - Attorney At Law, we are committed to aggressively pursuing legal remedies for your personal injury accident. Insurance companies have staff and Attorneys prepared to minimize their client's negligence, downplay the extent of your injuries and in turn reduce claims they pay you. Equally diligent to our clients, we are prepared and determined to fight for your just compensations and maximize your settlement. If your case cannot be resolved out of court, we are always prepared to go the distance in court to obtain the compensation you deserve.

If the negligent actions of another have caused you injury or death to you or a loved one, do not hesitate to take action and call us at (203) 742-1031 in Greenwich Office, (914) 597-7677 in White Plains Office, (917) 677-4536 in New York Office, (203) 885-1705 in Danbury Office and (203) 998-0769 in Stamford Office. We are prepared to meet with you at a time that is convenient for you and, as always, there is no charge for our initial consultation and review of your case.